Consultations

Events

Our interactive workshops, panels, and guest presentations explore a variety of teaching and learning related topics. Session topics include Keeping Students Engaged in Class, Promoting Critical Thinking in the Classroom, and Teaching Well Using Technology. For current event information visit kaneb.nd.edu/events.

Collaborative Teaching Reflection

This service includes a videotape of a class session, an observation of a different class session by our staff, and review of the syllabus and other course materials. We then schedule a consultation to discuss what is working well and identify opportunities for improvement.

Faculty Learning Communities (FLCs)

An FLC is comprised of a multidisciplinary mix of people interested in exploring specific instructional ideas. Previous groups have explored topics ranging from the impact of technology to ethical behavior in the classroom.

Learning Technology Lab (LTL) – 350 DeBartolo Hall

Schedule a consultation to help you identify and integrate technology into a course. The lab maintains a full complement of up-to-date computers and multimedia equipment that our consultants and student assistants use in developing materials for instructors.

Reading Groups

You are invited to form a small group to read and discuss a book related to teaching and learning in higher education. We purchase the books and the group arranges discussion meetings and submits a short summary of the group's impressions of the book.

Scholarship of Teaching & Learning (SoTL)

SoTL is a scholarly approach to excellent teaching. We provide support to instructors who want to conduct a formal investigation of the impact of pedagogical choices on student learning outcomes.

Faculty Fellows

Each year, exemplary teachers are selected to share strategies, insights, and techniques that have made them award-winning teachers. This year's fellows are listed on the back cover.
